VOL. LIII. OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 9, 1900. NO. 264

F. S. STRATTON IS NAMED.

Will Be the Collector of the Port of San Francisco.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, November 9.—Senator Frederick S. Stratton is to be Collector of the Port, vice Col. John P. Jackson, deceased.

This ends one of the liveliest contests for a place of patronage that has occurred in California in a good many years. The moment the news went forth that Jackson was dead the competition started up, the first to enter the fray being William H. Hamilton, cashier at the Custom House, and Surveyor of the Port Joseph D. Spear.

Hamilton relied on the fact that he had been in active charge of Perkins' Senatorial campaign four years ago and furthermore that the promise to appoint him Naval Officer had not been kept owing to the refusal of the President to remove Colonel John P. Irish. He enlisted in his behalf many of the most prominent politicians in the State and started in to make his canvass a hurricane one.

Spear's hopes were founded on the fact that he was originally a candidate for the Collectorship at the time Jackson got it and that his claim was then favorably entertained at Washington.

Spear early in the fight endeavored to make a combination with Hamilton by which he was to get the Collectorship and Hamilton become Surveyor in his place, but this Hamilton refused. Spear, however, secured powerful backing including nearly all the San Francisco papers, so he went at it vigorously on his own account.

Then came other candidates. The friends of Major McLaughlin made a vigorous effort to get the place for him, the Major himself declining to become a candidate because he had promised Hamilton he would do what he could for him. Al Gerberding was also in line, and then came Colonel George Stone, chairman of the State Central Committee, and Senator Chester Rowell of Fresno.

Objections were raised, however, to all the candidates. But would not have Hamilton because he had been in Burns' Senatorial fight; Perkins was opposed to Spear for personal reasons. But thought McLaughlin, having been in the Burns' camp was also not acceptable. Gerberding was not considered strong enough. Perkins would not have Rowell under any consideration, and it was thought by both Senators to appoint Stone in view of his being actively engaged in a national campaign, thus leaving him open to the charge of using his position for personal ends.

Furthermore, it had the general objection that no man who was at present holding a Federal position should get the place, but that it should go to some one as yet uninvolved.

The name of Senator Stratton was suggested and it was at once agreed upon by both Senators. They sent for Stratton and offered the place to him.

First satisfying himself that Hamilton, in whose fight he had been enlisted, had no chance, he said he would accept. Then going to Hamilton he explained the situation to him and Hamilton, on realizing that he was out of it, at once urged Stratton not to refuse.

There is little more to add. The place was then formally offered by the Senators to Stratton, and by him formally accepted. Last night the Senators telegraphed to Washington their joint recommendation that Stratton be appointed, which of course settles it.

The place pays $7,000 a year and the term is four years. As there is about one year unexpired term also it looks as if Stratton will serve from now, until 1905.

As soon as the news got around town this morning it brought out general expressions of approval. Stratton's wide personal popularity added to his brilliant record as a lawyer and a business man gave satisfaction to all and on every side was heard the comment that the Senators had made a splendid selection.

sloners and resigned that position in July, 1895, in order to go to Europe, though he has ever since been special counsel for the Board. He is attorney for a large number of corporations, banks, insurance companies, and heavy mercantile firms.

In November, 1896, Mr. Stratton was elected to the State Senate from Alameda county. His term expires January 1, 1901. He was the champion of the State University in the Senate. Mr. Stratton has traveled extensively in the United States, Canada, Alaska, Mexico, the Hawaiian Islands, Europe and the British kingdom. If he has a fond it is mountain climbing. He also takes much interest in athletics, being fond of rowing, long distance swimming, bicycling, etc. He is a member of the University and Merchants Clubs in San Francisco, and the Athenian, Reliance and Columbia Rowing Clubs of Oakland.

KILLED BY A FIEND.

Little School Girl Way-laid and Stabbed With a Dirk.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire

LIMON, Colo., Nov. 9.—Louise Frost, 11 years of age, daughter of a ranchman, was found last night, unconscious and bleeding from many wounds, in a patch of weeds about half a mile from her home. She had been stabbed, apparently with a dirk, no less than fourteen times. She died at midnight without having regained consciousness.

The physician who attended her expressed the opinion that the girl had been grossly maltreated before receiving the stab wounds.

She was waylaid when driving home from school, for her horse had entered the stable about dark with the buggy empty.

Posses are scouring the country in every direction and the murderer will probably be lynched if captured.

You led the fight in that grand contest, and the Republicans of Ohio thank you for your presence and your canvass, as well as for the great national work you have performed."

HANNA ON THE RESULT

Says Nebraska Victory Is the Greatest of All.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Senator Hanna, chairman of the National Republican Committee, arrived here today from Cleveland. In speaking of the election he said:

"The people of this country were overwhelmingly in favor of sound money, law and order and a continuation of the policy that stands for prosperity. Patriotism and loyalty to the flag were strong factors in this campaign, and that, together with the aid of those who are generally termed Sound Money Democrats or Gold Democrats, but whom I call American citizens, all combined to bring about the result."

"Nebraska was the greatest victory of all. We made a hard fight in that State; we won for it for all we were worth, and while we did our utmost and hoped for the best we did not expect to carry it."

"We have carried Kentucky, and we have not yet given up hope of her electoral vote, and we do not propose to give up."

"We have carried the State and we propose to fight for it."

"How about changes in the Cabinet, Senator?" Mr. Hanna was asked.

"You won't get a word out of me about Cabinet positions. I have nothing to say about that. It is none of my affair."

Mr. Hanna's attention was called to the fact that Senator Dewey had said the insurgents should be put down in the Philippines at once, no matter how much money and how many men it would require to accomplish this end, and was asked for his opinion on the subject. He replied:

"I think the insurrection will evaporate almost at once, but if it should not, I think we can safely leave the matter in the hands of the President."

"It has been announced that you are a candidate for the Presidency in 1904."

"If I find the man who started that report I will kill him. I won't talk about that or allow anyone else to do it. It is too absurd."

"Do you mean to say you would decline the nomination if it were tendered you?" "Well, something like that. But I don't wish to discuss that at all. It is too foolish."

MAYOR AND ICE TRUST.

Why Roosevelt Did Not Remove New York's Mayor.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—In connection with the charges filed against him by Governor Roosevelt regarding his alleged improper connection with the American Ice Company, the World today prints a telegram purporting to have been sent by H. B. Odell, chairman of the Republican State Committee, and nominee of the Republican State Convention for Governor, to Governor Roosevelt as follows:

"September 26, 1899.—To Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of New York, Cripple Creek, Colo.—Wire Attorney-General Davies to be sure not to give out to the reporters the Van Wyck answer at this time. It must be held until after the election is over. This would imperil our chances and get us into a useless wrangle. I have also wires Davies."

"H. B. ODELL."

A reporter called on Governor Roosevelt at his home at Oyster Bay today and asked him as to the genuineness of the telegram given above. The Governor declined to make any statement beyond calling attention to the fact that about ten days before the election he had stated to newspaper reporters that there was no possible objection to Mayor Van Wyck giving out his answer, but as far as he was concerned the usual custom would be followed. The answer, together with any communication from the Attorney-General, would be made public at the same time the decision was given out.

Mr. Odell was asked at his home today to affirm or deny the authenticity of the telegram, but refused to make any statement at this time.

In the letter of Attorney-General Davies to Governor Roosevelt, dated October 4th, communicating the answer of Mayor Van Wyck, the Attorney-General says:

"The Mayor by his answer admits that during his incumbency of the office he has been the owner of shares of stock in the American Ice Company. He also admits that during the period in which he was the owner of stock the American Ice Company had contracts with the city for the sale of ice to various departments of the city and for the loading of docks belonging to the city. In my opinion the owner of stock in the corporation is interested within the meaning of the word as employed in section 155 of the Greater New York charter in a contract between the corporation and the city."

Further on in his letter to the Governor the Attorney-General says:

"In order to justify the Mayor's removal I do not believe it is necessary to establish a case against him upon which he could be convicted of a crime under provisions of section 153 above referred to, but I do believe there should be clear and satisfactory evidence of his moral guilt."

"It is of the utmost importance that no further proceedings should be taken in this matter unless you are satisfied that the charges can be sustained. The Mayor of the greatest city in America should not be humiliated by being placed on trial upon charges which are groundless or which cannot be proved. Under all those circumstances, and in view of the fact that the charges are made upon information and belief, and considering the great expense both to the Mayor and the State involved in such a trial, I believe that before a commissioner is appointed or further proceedings taken in the matter you should require the commissioner to place you in possession of evidence which, standing alone and undisputed, would justify the removal of the Mayor."

"In my judgment the Mayor's answer should not be made public at this time. As I have already stated, the denial and allegations are clear and explicit, and it might at once be suggested that the charges should be dismissed or that a commissioner should be at once appointed and the Mayor given a speedy opportunity to exonerate himself."

"You are powerless to act in this matter during your absence from this State. You cannot appoint a commissioner until you reach this State, and I am afraid that Mr. Woodruff will decline to take the responsibility of appointing one."

PROF. KELLOGG AT THE U. C.

He is Introduced to the Students By His Successor President Wheeler.

The second monthly assemblage during "students' hour" of the students of the University of California took place this morning at 11:15 o'clock in Harmon gymnasium. The first gathering was held one month ago. All the students were present and the greater part of the faculty occupied the platform.

President Wheeler said in opening the session:

"I wish to impress upon you the advisability of being present at the university meeting. It is a definite appointment which we have with you. It will make a meeting of only ten times a year, and I want those ten times to be religiously respected. You may cut anything else you want to, but you may not cut this."

President Wheeler then referred to ex-President Kellogg of the University, who has just returned from a trip from around the world, using the following words:

"It may seem strange that I should undertake to introduce to you as the next speaker a distinguished gentleman who is so well known. However, since he left us on his long journey around the world 1,400 students have entered the University. I can, therefore, at least introduce him to those new students and say that he is one of the fathers of the University, one of the most distinguished of its faculty, and a man whom all the people love, and whose services to the University have been more valuable than those of any person who has been connected with it."

Prof. Kellogg was received with applause which lasted for several minutes. When silence was restored the professor said:

"One of the things which I want to say this morning is suggested by the change of visual horizon which I experienced in passing around this small planet. Each man has his own mental vision. In one of the rooms of the University there are two hemispheres."

The center of one of those hemispheres is marked 'St. Louis.' The center of the other is marked 'San Francisco.' These are two hemispheres. We need not go far from those centers to find a different visual horizon. As in mental vision, no two men have the same visual horizon. This visual horizon can be carried with you. The mental horizon may be enlarged and elevated. You cannot lose anything of that. It comes before you and with your preliminary training you are equipped to a greater or less degree wherever you go or whenever you may be.

"We go to see landscapes that are beautiful under foreign skies and we come back to enjoy the beauties of Berkeley, which I love more since my return than I did before."

Prof. Kellogg then offered advice to the student body. "I would like to impress upon you," he said, "the necessity of enlarging your mental horizon. Studies should be prepared well and thoroughly, no matter what else ought to be done. Athletics, necessary as they are, should not be allowed to interfere with the studies of the course. The same is true of the social features of University life."

"There are other things that are not in the course which should be cultivated. Students should learn to debate and to cultivate themselves as to appear in a presentable manner in public. They should also learn to write well—to write the English language, that great language which is extending all over the world—so they should learn to write it so that they may express their ideas well and clearly and elegantly."

"Then, there should be friendly intercourse between students. Oh, there is a charm in college life. We make friendships which last all through our lives. We become devoted to one another and heart-links with heart."

"But this intercourse should not always be solemn, solid and weighty. There should be some relaxation. I believe in relaxation. I believe in laughter. We professors who do not laugh enough like to hear the hearty laughter of your people as they pass over the campus. We like to hear the college songs."

new secretary, but the other side does not recognize his right to accept for it.

A long legal contest will likely follow. The Dinger faction has retained Lloyd Nash, one of the best lawyers in the State, to represent it. It. St. Fitzgerald, John Durr of San Francisco and Frank Ford of Fresno are counsel for the opposite side.

CONTEST OVER OIL STOCK.

W. C. Beattie Retires From Contra Costa Water Company.

There is an interesting contest on for the control of the Giant Oil Company and Standard Oil Company, in both of which operations Oakland capital is heavily interested. On one side of the contest are W. J. Dinger, J. H. L. Wadkinson and E. B. Bowles, while arrayed against them are M. J. Dymally, "Kamuk" Berry of Fresno, W. C. Beattie and E. G. Vincent.

One of the results of the battle is that Ed Vincent has retired from Mr. Dinger's office and W. C. Beattie is a resigning secretary of the Contra Costa Water Company. The latter has been succeeded by Edward McGary Jr.

The trouble's antecedents date back, when the board of directors of the oil companies controlled by the Dinger-Wadkinson-Bowles side of the controversy, have an assessment of 5 cents a share to pay some outstanding claims and improve the oil property. The taxman-Berry faction demurred to the assessment, and as it held a majority of stock it fell a meeting, called Dinger, Bowles and Wadkinson as directors and elected a new board. The first thing the new officers did was to postpone the day of sale of delinquent stock.

The other side did not recognize the legality of the new board, and the stock was sold last Wednesday as advertised. E. B. Bowles was the purchaser.

The holders of delinquent stock paid their assessments to M. J. Dymally, the NEWS AT WASHINGTON.

The Appointment Will Probably Be Made Late Today.

(Special to The Tribune.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10.—A dispatch has been received at the White House signed by United States Senators Bard and Perkins requesting the President to appoint Hon. F. S. Stratton as Collector of the Port at San Francisco.

Secretary Lyman T. Gage of the Treasury Department is also in receipt of a dispatch from the California Senators informing him of their telegram to the President and urging that the appointment be made at once, owing to the great pressure of business at the port of San Francisco and the necessity of having the Collectorship at once filled.

On receipt of this Secretary Gage at once conferred with the White House, and it is understood that Mr. Stratton's appointment will be announced either this afternoon or in the morning.

Mr. Stratton was born in Oakland January 22, 1859. He graduated from the Oakland High School, and in 1881 from the State University. He was admitted to the bar in 1885. Subsequently he formed a partnership with W. W. Morrow, now United States Circuit Judge. This partnership continued until Mr. Morrow was appointed District Judge by President Harrison.

Mr. Stratton has been attorney for the United States in the French and American claims commission cases, the Alabama claims case, and was special counsel in the Pension land fraud cases.

In 1881 he became the attorney for the Board of State Harbor Commis-

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the First Hebrew Congregation will give a grand female minstrel show and dance in Pythian Hall Thursday evening November 15th. Rehearsals have been in progress for some time. Talented people only will be employed.

Rehearsals thus far held have given the ladies great proficiency in the novel roles which they are to essay. The rehearsals are conducted in private and none of the auditors will be given information as to the identity of the persons who are to act as "tambourines," "bones," "interlocutors" and "specialists."

The closing feature will be a farce entitled "Till for Tat," in which several society people from both this city and San Francisco will take part. The ladies, who are making arrangements for this event are Mrs. Dr. S. Kahn, Mrs. Otto Wise, Miss Josie Lezinsky, Miss Mae Cohen, Mrs. Jot Kahn, Mrs. E. Schwartzbaum, Mrs. Henry Kahn, Mrs. George Samuels, Mrs. A. Alexander, Mrs. S. Elizer, Mrs. I. Bernstein and Hector Morrison.

ENTHUSIASTIC CONVERTS.
There are Thousands of Them Who Believe as This Woman Does.

Mrs. Ida Knowlton of Butte, Montana, is the most enthusiastic convert to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. A cure for obstinate stomach trouble, she says. I had poor digestion nearly all my life. It now seems to me that for years I never knew what it was to be hungry, to have a good natural appetite.

I was troubled with gas in stomach causing pressure on the heart with palpitation and short breath. Nearly everything I ate soured on my stomach, sometimes I had cramps in the stomach which almost resembled spasms.

Doctors told me I had catarrh of the stomach, but their medicines would not touch it and I would still be a sufferer had I not, in sheer desperation, decided to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

I knew they were an advertised remedy and I didn't believe anything I read about them as I had no confidence in advertised remedies, but my sister living in Pittsburgh wrote me last spring telling me how Stuart's Tablets had cured her and her little daughter of indigestion and loss of flesh and appetite, and I hesitated no longer.

I bought a fifty-cent box at a drug store, and took two large tablets after each meal and found them delightful to take, being as pleasant to the taste as caramel candy. Whenever during the day or night I felt any pain or uneasiness in the stomach or about the heart I took one of the small tablets and in three weeks it seemed to me as if I had never known what stomach trouble was.

I keep Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in the house and every member of our family uses them occasionally after a hearty meal or when any of us have a pain or ache in the digestive organs.

Mr. L. H. Lax of Hampton, Va., says: "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, bloating after meals, sympathetic heart trouble.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is not a cheap cathartic, but an active digestive remedy containing the pepsin and dila-tase which every weak stomach lacks and they cure stomach troubles because they digest the food eaten and give the weak, abused overworked stomach a chance to rest and recuperate.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in every drug store in the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

LE CONTE'S REPORT IS IN EVIDENCE.
Judge Hart Gives His Reasons for Admitting the Document.

The report received by Engineer Le Conte to the City Council in 1888, concerning the water suit system, was yesterday admitted into evidence by Judge Hart. The report was made by Le Conte to the City Council in 1888, concerning the water suit system, was yesterday admitted into evidence by Judge Hart. The report was made by Le Conte to the City Council in 1888, concerning the water suit system, was yesterday admitted into evidence by Judge Hart.

WHAT HAYNE FOUGHT AGAINST. Hayne did not claim that the report was entirely inadmissible, but he wanted it limited as evidence in the case. The object of this contention was to prevent the city being crippled from going behind the valuation fixed in Le Conte's report. If it be shown that the city, having accepted and acted on the estimates made by its experts and therefore cannot deny or impeach its own action in the water suit, the water company will have made a mighty stride. Although Hayne is adroit in raising technical objections, he was visibly cornered and fought down in the last ditch. Finally he fell back on the doctrine that there was no such thing as good faith in the city's dealings with the water company, that each council was a law unto itself, and whatever action a council took the whole thing died when the council went out of office.

When McCutcheon asked Le Conte if his report represented his best judgment of the cost of the Contra Costa water system at the time it was made, Hayne objected and the matter was under debate when court adjourned for the day. Although Hayne's objection was overruled he still objected to the form of the questions virtually going over the same old ground covered by his original objection. In reality he was fighting for a ruling that would in some way limit the report as evidence.

JUDGE HART'S RULING.

The text of Judge Hart's ruling admitting the Le Conte report into evidence is as follows: "The report received by Engineer Le Conte to the City Council in 1888, concerning the water suit system, was yesterday admitted into evidence by Judge Hart. The report was made by Le Conte to the City Council in 1888, concerning the water suit system, was yesterday admitted into evidence by Judge Hart."

Otherwise a continuance was necessary. Hayne petulantly protested against excluding matters, claiming that he had not been apprised in advance of the move. He said he had important engagements in the morning, but admitted that he could arrange his affairs to be present at the trial. He notified counsel as soon as he could after the condition manifested itself, said McCutcheon. He said that he received a dispatch stating that Mr. Adams' presence was imperative in Los Angeles. He is the manager of the defendant corporation and he said that he was unable to be present during the trial. "How long will the trial take?" asked his honor. "Fully two weeks," said Mr. Moore. "It will take not less than three weeks," said Hayne. "I have been told that it will consume a month," said McCutcheon. "And it is to save the delay of a long continuance that we wish to hold court tomorrow and Monday."

BURGLARS VISIT THE PERRY HOME.

Burglars entered the residence of Mr. A. Perry at 710th and Magnolia streets last night in the absence of the family and unopened the place from cellar to garret.

An entrance was effected by breaking the lock of the rear door. It is not known how long the burglars were in the house, but Thomas Chesley, living next door, saw two men leaving the house some time after 10 o'clock. The men were strangers to Chesley, and knowing there was no one at home he notified the police.

Capital Police, with a posse, hurried to the residence and found trunks, boxes and bureau opened and their contents strewn about the rooms. Nothing that might have been a hiding place for valuables was overlooked but as the family is out of the city it is impossible to tell what, if anything, was stolen.

knowledge of the business of the plaintiff corporation. We offer a report which shows that the company expended during the year 1899, on construction account, the sum of $12,474, which addition to the cost of the plant was ignored in fixing the valuation. "Ignored by which Council?" queried the Court.

"The Council of 1899." Hayne saw the yawning chasm before him, and quoted Latin extensively to convince the Court that the reports should be excluded because the books had been destroyed.

McCutcheon said the reports were made long before the books were destroyed or anybody thought of destroying them and argued that Hayne's objection was of no force because the destruction antedated the bringing of this suit and subsequent to the filing of the reports. Moore said the rule in such matters must be construed by the evidence. The books were destroyed for a valid business reason, at a time when no cause was pending and when there was no reason to suppose one would arise. There was no dispute with anybody. They were destroyed at a time when the contents of them were supposed to be communicated to the other party. Unless there is some color of a showing that the destruction was to avoid production the rule does not apply.

Hayne contended that the books were destroyed to prevent inspection. "I'll tell you Judge Hayne, that if we had ever had any idea of meeting you and Mr. Henry the books would never have been burned," exclaimed Moore. "We only wish we had them back now."

"I believe you are misinformed," replied Hayne, who proceeded to repeat his periodical harangue denouncing the corporation.

"The argument was in progress when the noon recess was taken. (Continued on Page 5)

BURGLARS VISIT THE PERRY HOME.

Burglars entered the residence of Mr. A. Perry at 710th and Magnolia streets last night in the absence of the family and unopened the place from cellar to garret.

An entrance was effected by breaking the lock of the rear door. It is not known how long the burglars were in the house, but Thomas Chesley, living next door, saw two men leaving the house some time after 10 o'clock. The men were strangers to Chesley, and knowing there was no one at home he notified the police.

Capital Police, with a posse, hurried to the residence and found trunks, boxes and bureau opened and their contents strewn about the rooms. Mrs. Delon Dies of Her Injuries. Mrs. J. Delon who was hurt in a bicycle accident yesterday morning, died from the effects of her injuries at the Receiving Hospital shortly after midnight. She did not regain consciousness from the time of the accident until death relieved her of her sufferings. The unfortunate woman's aged mother was at her bedside at the hospital when the end came. She was almost beside herself with grief and the attendants had great difficulty in quieting her.

The immediate cause of Mrs. Delon's death was internal hemorrhage. While her scalp was literally torn from the back of her head her skull was not fractured.

R. F. Fleming, with whose buggy Mrs. Delon collided feels very badly over the accident and offered yesterday to do anything he possibly could for the injured woman.

FRIDAY NOVEMBER 9, 1900

The Berlin papers announce that Germany is well satisfied with the result of the election. Thanks—for nothing.

Texas boasts of having gone solidly Democratic. Judging by the way the sentiment of the country is steadily drifting she will soon be a Lone Star State sure enough—the only one remaining to a dying cause.

Alameda county can afford to let San Francisco hold the banner for a couple of years, for it will be within reaching distance of us, and we will get it back next time easily enough. There is one good feature about our political position—there is never any guesswork as to when a stand

The Nicaragua canal is high up on the list of work mapped out by the Administration for the next four years. If that great achievement is added to the record of McKinley's rule, instead of California going to the Republican candidate in 1904 the vote will be almost unanimous.

The victory for the "Khaki" party in England and the triumph of the expansionists here show that the people like the roll of the drum, and that any political faction that opposes the army is sure to be beaten. It may be a relic of old-time savagery that is coursing through our veins but it is there, nevertheless.

The ratification meetings that are to be held all over the country tomorrow evening will be the last act in the Presidential drama. Alas poor Bryan—we can sympathize with him in his hour of affliction, for the merry music of the parading bands instead of bringing any joy to his soul will sound for him a mournful requiem.

The Emperor of China is going to return to Peking. It is not so much a case of home sickness as that he found that he had got out of the frying-pan into the fire. The Imperial palace at the capital, even if it is surrounded by foreign troops, is infinitely preferable to taking chances with ambitious Prince Tuan in the heart of the Boxer country.

CALIFORNIA'S SOLID NINE

From a local standpoint no more important or gratifying result attends the election than that California sends to Washington a solid Republican delegation in both Senate and House. In the past either one of our Senatorial representatives or some of the Congressmen have invariably belonged to the minority party, the result being that we have always labored under the disadvantage that naturally attends a divided delegation.

Now, however, we will be represented upon the scene of legislative action as a unit and those conversant with the methods of Congress know that it is a mighty aid and to have two votes in the Senate and seven in the House all swinging together on every proposition of local or national importance. It means primarily that when the question of the distribution of Federal appropriations comes up we will get our full share for the improvement of our rivers and harbors, public buildings, fortifications and so forth, while on issues directly affecting the West such as irrigation and the Nicaragua Canal we will be enabled through a coalition with other Pacific Coast States to virtually ensure our demands in that regard.

In view of the fact that the whole country realizes the desirability of perfecting certain Federal improvements that have been necessitated by the traffic with the Philippines, we can well anticipate a continuance of the golden tide that has poured into our midst out of the national treasury during the past three years. It is estimated that in that time the government has spent fully $75,000,000 in the purchase of transports, provisions, pay to soldiers and so forth, and as nearly all of the money has gone into local hands it has naturally been turned into channels within our reach. With the certainty, therefore, that the military operations in the Orient will be continued until a conclusion is reached, the present governmental system will of course be maintained, after which will come the more solid and permanent benefits in the shape of building up trade with the islands and providing for the multifarious requirements in that regard. The Pacific cable is, for example, no longer problematical, for its construction has become an absolute necessity, now that the people have endorsed the policy of expansion, and there is no doubt that as soon as the conditions are ripe McKinley will set about building up and fostering the shipping industry on this coast by means of subsidies if need be.

The California delegation will therefore have the opportunity to play an important part in carrying out the policies and desires of the Administration in the great West, and it is a satisfaction to know that we will be represented at Washington by such able men as Senators Perkins and Bard and Congressmen Coombs, Woolf, Metcalf, Kahn, Loud, McLaughlin and Needham. Apart from the fact that they are all staunch Republicans, they are known in business and professional circles as competent, careful, honest citizens, and the State can well be proud of the kind of timber she is sending to the capital. The year 1900 has been a glorious one for California in many ways, as witnesses, for example, the development of her oil fields and the prosperity that has spread from one end of the State to the other, and the closing in of the year with so great a political triumph is a fitting climax to all the benefits that have been heaped upon us.

THE FOREST ISSUE.

Tradition has it that a century ago California was covered from sea coast to mountain top with oak forest growth and that then the rainfall was abundant and the valleys well watered with running streams. From the experiments now being made by French scientists it is again proven that forests have much to do with the rainfall, and the droughts to which California is so frequently subjected, especially in the San Joaquin valley and southern counties, are undoubtedly due to the fact that they have been almost entirely denuded of trees. It has been demonstrated by French experiments that a single oak tree of fairly good size will lift 123 tons of water during the time it is thickly in leaf. This moisture, it is asserted, is evaporated, and, rising to the upper strata of the atmosphere, collects and in time returns to earth in the form of rain. From this estimate of the work of a single oak some idea can be formed of the great influence forests exert in equalizing the evaporation and precipitation of moisture. These facts have a tremendous bearing upon the possibilities of the future in the artificial cultivation of forests and following these conclusions there is every possibility of reclaiming arid wastes now desert and making them both habitable and productive.

It is satisfactory to know, therefore, that the California Forest and Water Association that was organized immediately after the great drought of a couple of years ago intends to press the issue of forest preservation at the approaching session of the Legislature. Although failure attended the efforts to have the State bonded for an irrigation system, those who are seeking to avoid the perils to which our agriculturists are at present subjected were not dissuaded by any means, and immediately turned all their attention to the forestry part of the issue, which is just as important as the possession of storage reservoirs. We in the cities do not properly appreciate the work that is to be done and what it means, but those who have traveled over miles after miles of land once covered with immense, heavily foliaged trees, but now absolutely stripped of its timber save for a blackened stump here and there, appreciate that we cannot afford to delay longer if we desire to save to California the priceless treasures planted by nature in the timber belts of the Sierras.

However, it is encouraging to find that the conditions are all in favor of affirmative action by the Legislature. The California Forest and Water Association consists of men prominent in the life of the State and their influence will be very weighty when brought to bear upon the members at Sacramento. When, too, it is conclusively shown, as it will be, that the matter is one of common interest and affects the pockets of every citizen in the State the Legislature cannot but inaugurate some system that will in time bring about the relief wanted. Up to now the brunt of the battle has had to be borne by the interior, but the cities should join hands, too, for their prosperity depends as absolutely upon that of the farmers as does that of the agriculturists upon the land they till. With all pulling together, therefore, in the right direction the end desired should be attained without much trouble.

THE AUTOMOBILE'S ADVANCE.

The automobile has passed the stage of novelty and is now rapidly coming into service as a vehicle of practical utility. The only thing that has stood in the way of more general use has been the high cost of the machines, but there has been a noteworthy reduction in price and it is now only a question of a few years when, like the bicycle, these horseless carriages will be commonly used. The great public parks from which the automobile was barred have been compelled to abandon all restrictions and give the new vehicle the right of way upon the boulevards. In Oakland several automobiles are in use by business houses and are giving the utmost satisfaction. In Paris they are rapidly becoming a factor in street traffic and have also won their way into popular favor with the people of London. American ingenuity has devised many improvements and from now on it can be expected that the automobile will rapidly come into public favor, and in some particular instances will revolutionize conditions now existing. The overworked delivery horse, like his brother in car harness, will soon be given a rest, and in trucking and draying the automobile will undoubtedly soon play an important part. The new machine is making its way by sheer merit far more rapidly than was anticipated when the invention was first launched, and in ten years from now will probably play as important a part in our local transportation as those pioneer horseless carriages, the cable car and electric vehicle.

Populism and Bryan will be buried in the same grave. We are never likely to hear from either of them again, "for which relief, much thanks."

STARBEAMS.

For some chaps it takes a lot of corks for a corking good time.

"That man," said the Impecunious Idiot, "always reminds me of cash. He's so cold and distant."

One of the mottoes of the Dairyman's association is "You will never miss the water till the cow runs dry."

It's strange, but no chap who ever wanted to see life in a great city ever started out until after dark.

A Democratic editor in Stockton, Cal., evidently acquainted with his readers, exhorted them thus: "Register, you idiots, register!"

"In spite of China," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "we don't hear so much about the open door, just as soon as the weather gets a little cooler."

Collector Griscom has been instructed to present that little bill to the sultan on the first and fifteenth of every month, but the sultan seems to be as hard to collect from as an actor in summer time.

President McKinley has definitely promised to attend the launching of the battleship Ohio in San Francisco next April. The exact date of the event will be fixed upon later on to suit McKinley's convenience.

The person awaiting the Hon. Billy Mason to hold his tongue let go for a few minutes yesterday, says the Chicago Journal, and the Hon. Billy improved the opportunity to remark that Bryan is the paramount demagogue of the country.

Probably as much is wasted in mispent money as in misdirected efforts. In his principles of economics Prof. Marshall says that perhaps five hundred million dollars annually is spent by the working classes and two billion dollars by the rest of the population of England in ways that do little or nothing toward making life nobler or truly happier.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

No man knows what it is to be a woman.
A suspended street car conductor gathers no fares.
Patience is the most essential ingredient of genius.
To the gentleman every woman is a lady by sight of her sex.
It's a poor picture that attracts less attention than the frame.

CHURCH CANNOT MEET DEBT.

Market Street Congregation Must Have a New Deal.

A council of ministers and laymen of the Congregational churches of four churches of that denomination in San Francisco met yesterday afternoon in the Market Street Congregational Church to consider the financial condition of that church, which, it is said, has been in straitened circumstances for some time.

There was an informal and lengthy inquiry as to the financial load the church was compelled to bear, the result of the inquiry was the appointment of a committee, with H. H. Chamberlain as chairman, to suggest a means of relieving the financial condition of the church.

Dr. Nash acted as moderator and Rev. Mr. Knodell of Santa Cruz as scribe. In the course of the informal inquiry into the condition of the church it was made apparent that the organization was about $8,700 in debt. Of this sum $5,000 is due to the Church Building Association of New York, and $3,700 to the Pacific Theological Seminary which is considered by some to be a debt and which by others is looked upon as an asset of the congregation.

For some time after the organization of the society the church was supported by a flourishing congregation, but with the passing of time the membership has declined and at one time amounted to $12,000. A pastor was secured after the church had been in existence for a time and a salary of $1,000 was allowed him. That salary was raised to $1,500 a year, and finally to $2,000 a year.

The congregation could not stand the strain. Finally, however, the Church Building Society of New York was approached. That organization had recently come into possession of a liberal bequest and agreed to donate $2,000 to the Market Street Church, in loan. It was on the condition that the remaining $3,700 of the debt should be paid by the church. The condition was accepted.

Instead of a really paying the $3,000, sum was, in various amounts, loaned to members of the church, some of whom had been paid. Default has taken place on the part of it and some of the societies who agreed to share the burden have gone out of existence.

To add the church along a loan of $2,700 was obtained from Mrs. Huggins. This $2,700 was obtained from the Theological Seminary is guaranteed by the church, which is the only asset of the church, which is the only asset of the church, which is the only asset of the church.

Under the statements which drew forth these facts, Rev. Mr. Perkins, a supporter of the church, showed that the society is now without a permanent pastor, the pulpit being "supplied" only by a volunteer, who is a layman, and that the church is now without a permanent pastor, the pulpit being "supplied" only by a volunteer, who is a layman, and that the church is now without a permanent pastor, the pulpit being "supplied" only by a volunteer, who is a layman.

The committee above referred to is expected to make a report as soon as possible.

HAYWARDS GIRLS GO ON A STRIKE.

Told By Boss That Their Services are Not Required.

HAYWARDS, Nov. 8.—Last Tuesday morning the girls of the Haywards High School, Grace Kilpatrick, Annie Gerich, Julia Hunt, and Louisa Gerich, labored at Hunt Brothers' cannery went on a strike. The young ladies received seventy-five cents per hundred cases, and two and one-half cents per case for extra work. They make no protest in regard to the regular work, but imagine they should receive more for extra work.

Today morning they held a meeting, Rev. Well acting as president and Hannah O'Neill as secretary. After quite a heated discussion they all went to San Francisco and waited until President Joe Hunt returned.

President Joe Hunt returned to Secretary Well, who in turn told them to tell their troubles to Superintendent of the cannery, who he has already a number of the fairer sex at work in their place.

ATTACKED THE CHIEF OF POLICE

Nome Miner Tries to Thrash the Head of the Police Force.

J. L. McLaughlin has only been back from Nome a few days and his arrival celebration was with vigorous and virile when he sighted Chief of Police Hodgkins on Telegraph avenue yesterday evening.

Now up in Nome when the boys got intoxicated the officers are the only things they can have fun with. McLaughlin was talking from one side of the walk to the other when a stranger, disdaining of doing him a neighborly turn, stepped up and told him to "brace up" and stand steady until the Chief had passed. Now that was the very worst thing the volunteer friend could have done, but he thought it was all right, as McLaughlin studied himself and tried to bring both eyes to a single focus.

The Chief was pointed out, and McLaughlin bore down upon him, expressing pleasure at the opportunity of "doing up" a Chief of Police. Everyone knows that Chief Hodgkins has been a very strict man for a month and is now barely able to walk about his office without being buttoned tightly around him and he had no opportunity to draw his pocket club when McLaughlin squared off for a right swing. He tried to deliver it, but it was intercepted by the Chief, who waved his hand and caught the fellow a wrist, bending the arm up and back of the neck, and with the other caught him in a cross between a half Nelson and a strangle hold, a quick blow on the forehead.

In this position he marched his man to Sixteenth street and Telegraph avenue, and sent for the patrol wagon. While waiting, McLaughlin harangued the crowd of 100 or more on what an outrage it was for a quiet citizen to be treated in that manner by a police officer.

At the station McLaughlin was found to have $200, a gold watch and considerable jewelry on his person. He deposited $200, which was forfeited in court this morning.

SAYS THEIR ROLLER IS WELL BEHAVED.

The Standard Improvement Company whose steam roller broke loose, ran down a hill and flattened out the flower garden and clipped off the side of the residence of Lloyd C. Harlow over in East Oakland, has answered the latter's suit for $250 damages.

The Standard Improvement Company has great faith in its roller. It intimates that it is a well behaved and orderly machine and that its reputation for peace and quiet can be fully established in court.

CYCLIST NOYES IS ON ROAD TO RECOVERY.

R. H. Noyes, the Sacramento wheelman, who was hurt November 4th by colliding with a wagon on the San Leandro road, is still at the Receiving Hospital, but his condition has improved and he is now rapidly recovering. He is somewhat irritable at times, but the physicians state he will soon regain complete control of his faculties.

A Child's Legacy.

Millie Meriwether has been appointed guardian of Elsie Meriwether, a minor. The child was left a legacy of $200 by the late Maria L. Lull, who named M. Meriwether as guardian. Mr. Peterson declined to serve.

A CHEMIST SPEAKS OF PRODIGIOUS FOOD.

"After having tested and tried every form of prodigious food on the market, and experimenting in my own family, my attention was attracted to an article headed 'Drowsy Scots' Diet,' mentioning eggs and Grape-Nuts. I carefully tested the new food and finally began its use in my family, with most gratifying results.

"My little boy at the time was a pale, anaemic child and very poorly nourished. Now, thanks to Grape-Nuts, he is as fine a specimen of infantile strength as I could wish for. My own personal experience means much to me. For some years I was troubled with dyspepsia; that is, I could not eat bread or any preparation of bolted wheat flour, such as cakes or any of the starchy preparations, without a fit of indigestion, sour stomach, constipation, and headache.

"As soon as I quit that sort of food and used Grape-Nuts, which has the starchy part predigested, I began to recover. The change has been remarkable. I formerly weighed 122 pounds and now weigh 137. Am strong, have more nerve force than I ever possessed, appetite perfect, sleep sound and can endure any amount of work. I know exactly where the change has come from, and it is from your truly scientific and wonderful food, which is worthy of the highest commendation." Chas. B. Prior, C. of P. Class '94, Midvale, N. Y.

LEICOUNT'S REPORT IN EVIDENCE.

In the afternoon the lawyers resumed their wrangle over the admission of the annual reports rendered to the Council in accordance with the law. Hayne argued that Mr. Watkinson's report for destroying the books was inherently improbable and should be rejected by the court.

McCutcheon had argued strenuously that the books were destroyed after the order of inspection was issued. If that be so the books were in existence when the ordinance was adopted. The reports would then be admissible because they could have been verified by the books. But in order to get around that dilemma counsel accepts Mr. Watkinson's statement that the books were destroyed in April 1899. In the next breath he asks that the portion of the statement giving the reason for burning the books be rejected. You cannot accept one portion of a statement for a purpose and exclude another portion for the same purpose. Counsel has no right to bind us by one part of a statement and then refuse to be bound by the other half of the same statement.

McCutcheon is illogical and inconsistent. He presumes that the date of the destruction given by Mr. Watkinson is true and that the motive alleged for it is untrue. The testimony is that Mr. Watkinson told Mr. Van Bokkelen and Mr. Randall that in April, 1899, the office of the company had been moved and that the books were burned because they were no further use and he had no place to put them. Is anything inherently improbable there? What is there about it that is not probable? Why should one part of it be presumed inherently probable and another part inherently improbable? Those statements were filed year after year and accepted by the Council as correct. If they doubted their correctness the books would have been called for and a verification had.

THE REPORTS ADMITTED.

Judge Hart said the reports were clearly admissible. They were public documents and, accessible to the Councilmen, and made pursuant to law for this very purpose. Plaintiff rendered the reports as the law directs and if the Council did not consider them in framing the ordinance it was the Council's own fault. He inclined to think the company has a right to follow them up with evidence to prove the correctness of the reports.

"I hope your honor will rest on that. I have the question till the proof is offered," said Hayne.

"Very well; it will be passed till that time."

Yesterday's Proceedings.

When THE TRIBUNE went to press yesterday Engineer Le Conte was still on the witness stand.

It was the first time he had ever seen a dam of that kind built and he watched the construction with a great deal of care. He said the construction proceeded with the greatest care, the materials being selected and the best of their class. He was particularly struck with the care exercised in the building, especially in constructing the piers and the abutments.

Witness remembered the weather distinctly, having visited the dam before the breach was fully repaired. He had visited the dam before and visited it subsequently.

Hayne switched off to put Mr. Le Conte through a course of examination as to his experience as a civil engineer. Witness said he began working as an engineer in 1872. He was born in 1845, and consequently he was 29 years old when the San Leandro dam was built.

Hayne tried to get Mr. Le Conte to admit that he had only made casual observation of the dam when he visited it while under construction.

"I observed it very closely," said the witness, "I was much interested in the earthwork particularly. Shortly afterward the Spring Valley built the old pillar dam, and I also watched that closely."

Hayne, he said, he had based his estimates as far as possible on his own surveys and measurements. Where the work was hidden he was compelled to rely upon the statement of the company's engineers as to quantities. He made his own estimates as to the cost. Some of the information was supplied by Mr. Chabot and some by Mr. Arnold, the constructing engineer. Witness said he had not used the figures supplied by the company.

THE REPORT OFFERED IN EVIDENCE.

Then Mr. McCutcheon offered the report in evidence. Hayne renewed his objection and argued at length that it was irrelevant and immaterial.

"Why the Council had this report made and acted on it," said McCutcheon.

"But the Council has no power to bind the city to anything beyond fixing the water rates for one year," responded Hayne.

"We do not claim that the city is bound by the report, but it should go in as an admission," rejoined McCutcheon.

Mr. Moore said the report itself stated the source of the information which his conclusions were based. Its value as evidence is determined by that fact.

"Will one Councilman not step forward and say the report of the city's own expert which was accepted by the Council without protest and acted on in good faith. We have the right to know the truth, and in that direction of the Council and accepted at that time as fair and just."

RIVERS CHARGED WITH A CRIME.

Must Answer for Man-slaughter in Criminal Court.

A coroner's jury last night fixed manslaughter as the crime committed by Edmund Rivers in firing the shot that caused the death of Peter Farrell. Edmund and Hector Rivers are the brothers of Farrell's wife. Last week Farrell and his wife quarreled and his wife went to the home of her brother. It is presumed she intended the separation to be final, as her brother went in a wagon to the Farrell's residence to take away the furniture that belonged to all good was her individual property.
